

2022 Ruth Wright Distinguished Lecture in Natural Resources
(Remote Access, Parking, and Logistics)

Mobilizing the Global Community on Climate Change: An Indigenous Leadership Perspective

Fawn R. Sharp

Quinault

President, National Congress of American Indians

Thursday, October 13, 2022

6:00 p.m. Mountain Time

Wolf Law Building, Wittemyer Courtroom

Livestream/Zoom option available

Conference Program

The 2022 Ruth Wright Lecture program is available at the link below:

Mobilizing the Global Community on Climate Change Event Program

Conference Location

University of Colorado School of Law

Wolf Law Building

Wittemyer Courtroom

2540 Kittredge Loop Road, 401 UCB

Boulder, CO 80309

<http://www.colorado.edu/law/about/wolf>

Remote/Zoom Access

For our remote guests the lecture can be accessed joining the Zoom Webinar.

Zoom Webinar link: <https://cu.law/RuthWrightLecture2022>

Campus Parking

If you plan to join us in person for the lecture, on campus parking will be available. You are required to “purchase” free parking through the online system using your license plate number.

Below you will find information, links and promo codes for the event.

Conference Parking

Conference Parking Info \(Map, Link, Promo Codes\)

Parking payment link: <https://cuboulder.pmreserve.com/>

For Lot 470

Thursday 10/13 PROMO Code: RUTH1013

Event Recording

The lecture will be recorded and posted to the GWC Past Events site.

GWC Past Events Site

CLE Credits

2 Colorado General CLE credits available.

CLE Accreditation Notice

Covid Information

The CU Boulder campus became mask-optional at 6 a.m. on Monday, March 7, 2022.

Note: masks will continue to be required after March 7 at the Wardenburg Health Center.

Contact Information

Shaun LaBarre

Acting Executive Director

Getches-Wilkinson Center for Natural Resources, Energy, and the Environment

University of Colorado Law School

Office: (303) 492-1286

shaun.labarre@colorado.edu